A Changed Life

Did you know that Audubon Area Community Services (AACS) has over five major programs? The largest program of AACS, having 59 centers, is the Head Start program. The Head Start program touches the lives of so many children every day. One such child is Beth.

Beth is one of the Early Head Start children that has blossomed during her time enrolled at one of Head Start's centers. Beth was enrolled when she was 2 years old. She was non-verbal, mostly making only sounds and gestures. She was receiving services through the First Steps Program, but due to COVID those services were changed to virtual. Beth did not respond well to speech services through a computer screen. The teacher made a referral to the EPSDT program and a therapist eventually began coming to the center to work with Beth. The teachers used basic sign language to communicate with her. The staff used pictures to help Beth to understand the routine schedule of the day.

Beth struggled playing with the other children. She would try to play with them, but with her limited vocabulary the other children would not play with her long. She would get very frustrated when the teachers and other children did not understand what she wanted. Temper tantrums were often a daily event. With therapy, consistent attendance, and the staff using suggestions of the therapist to communicate with Beth, she gradually started talking more. Eventually, she did not need the picture system anymore. She started making friends.

She did not rest well at naptime either. One of her therapists showed the staff how to apply light pressure on her arms, legs, and back that would help Beth calm down, relax, and rest. It did not take long and she was resting at naptime. The temper tantrums were less frequent.

Then, it was time for Beth's transition to preschool. Beth's mom was concerned how Beth would do in a new classroom with new teachers and new classmates. Both classrooms worked on an extended transition plan in case one was needed. However, once Beth was in the preschool room for her transition visits she did not want to leave the preschool room and go back to her Early Head Start classroom. She was ready to go! She was a preschooler now!

Every day we wake up and go to work at Audubon Area Community Services because we impact people's lives—like Beth.

Movers & Shakers

A Job Well Done

“When COVID hit we adjusted,” said Sarah Adkins, Director of Owensboro Regional Recovery (ORR).

In March of 2020, when other similar programs were shutting down due to COVID, Owensboro Regional Recovery worked hard to keep its doors open. Hard decisions were made like prohibiting things like visits with family, going to work, and off site AA meetings. “The passion and dedication of ORR staff made all the difference in dealing with a difficult situation,” explained Sarah.

“The 19 ORR staff members remained extremely flexible and their drive to make things work for clients was so impressive,” said Sarah, “Staff pressed past their own safety concerns, learned new roles, and covered when fellow staff were out due to the pandemic.”

Addiction doesn't stop due to a pandemic. Actually, ORR services were needed even more during COVID because people were isolated – isolation is a breeding ground for relapse. Staff recognized the importance of continuing services. They did not quit and rose valiantly to the challenges presented by COVID.

Founded in 2010, Owensboro Regional Recovery is a men's substance abuse recovery program. ORR helps people recover from addiction, gain control of their lives, and eventually reside in permanent housing. The program usually takes between 6 to 9 months to complete. ORR is a partnership between Audubon Area Community Services, Inc. and Lighthouse Recovery Services.
